Area 31 Accessibility Committee

June 26, 2019

The Accessibility Committee met on Wednesday June 26, 2019. No new referrals for services had been received. A poster board suitable for display at conventions, roundups and assemblies has been completed and was presented

A deaf member shared his experiences with a voice recognition application called Speechnotes, which converts speech to text. It is available for Android users. It has limited range (about 10 feet). The member has used it at speaker meetings when he has spontaneously decided to attend a meeting and does not have an ASL interpreter with him.

The Committee would be interested to learn of IOS (iPhone) users who have had similar success using speech to text technology.